The sixty-five year-old "Grandmother of the Links" won golf honors in Florida the other day, which naturally recalls to mind the old-fashioned grandmother who sat in the corner all winter long and knit red woolen stockings.

The price of eggs is said to be lower this spring than for many years but as yet nobody has offered any legislation for the relief of the American hen.

The routes traveled by motor busses in carrying passengers and freight exceed the track mileage of the Class 1 railroads in the United States, the Interstate Commerce Commission reports. Entomologists declare that a horde of foreign insects is about to invade us coming from Asia and Europe. Doubtless our pacifists will want to settle this not with insect powder but with an international agreement.

Remember the good old days when you passed bills for the manager of the opera house so that you could get to see Lincoln Carter's "Flaming Arrow"? Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered by Dr. Brady. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instruction. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper. Name your city on your return envelope. Don't say "city."

WILL SOME ONE KINDLY SUBMIT A PLAN

The first 20 years are the hardest. But here and now I do solemnly aver, avow, affirm and alliterate that progress in the campaign against the great "cold" delusion is dishearteningly low. As nearly as I can see, the general run of doctors and health officers are sitting exactly where they sat when we started the drive, viz., on the fence. Depending upon the direction and force of the prevailing wind they hop down on the other side, for the purpose of gentlemanly discussion, but as soon as the immediate emergency is over they hop right up on the fence again.

Have you ever tested your marksmanship on one of those silent cots with hemispherical base? You may down him easily enough, but the moment you are away he is right up again. It is discouraging indeed.

Let us review the situation and endeavor to find inspiration to carry on.

1. In the textbooks of pathology, medicine and hygiene published 20 years ago the theory of exposure to cold and wet was given first place in the causation of coryza and other respiratory diseases. Today this theory is assigned an unimportant position, the main cause being bacterial infection.

2. Notwithstanding the indefatigable efforts of our constituted health authorities to warn people to beware whenever it turns cold, warm, or wet, it seems to me that more and more intelligent people are becoming quite reckless about that, particularly the feminine population.

3. According to the old fogies the women are naturally more vulnerable to "exposure" than are the "stronger" men. Yet in spite of their greater recklessness about baring their chests, shins, etc., to the cold, women today have absolutely and relatively less pneumonia and bronchitis than ever before, as far as statistical records show.

4. In the ordinary walks of life one meets more and more people who are nearly or quite convinced that there is no harm in getting cold or wet.

5. Vilhjalmur Stefansson's "The Friendly Arctic."

6. The striking freedom from alleged "colds" observed by our soldiers while they were in the trenches in France.

7. A rather timid yet manifest disposition on the part of some physicians and health authorities to question the hackneyed theory of "inherited resistance."

8. A nation-wide "study" launched with considerable noise two or three years ago by the federal public health service, the American Medical Association, and various quasipublic health organizations or institutions for the avowed purpose of finding out what really is the cause of the so-called "common cold."

9. The alarming silence which that expedition has maintained since it set out.

10. The recent launching of a similar expedition by the American Chemical Society or some such body, for the avowed purpose of finding out what really is the cause of the so-called "common cold." These drug manufacturers pretend they are into 30 gallons of water daily in a ignorance of the expedition which preceded them by two years. Can it be that they hope to discover and rescue the stranded and disheartened members of the earlier expedition?

11. A letter I received from a young lady who says her mother advises her to dress to suit her own comfort at all times. With a couple dozen mothers like that behind me I'd dare to defy the shade of Pinkie Lydham!

12. Laboratory experiments calculated to prove that exposure to cold and wet makes an animal more susceptible (less "resistant") to infection with a germ which causes snuffles in animals, have not yielded positive results. The animals fail to conform to the theory.

These considerations would contain some cheer for us if they meant anything to the medical authorities and the health authorities in general. Will some one kindly suggest how we ought to carry on the battle for the next 20 years?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Schools Dodge It

I have been using an antiseptic soap but it doesn't seem to prevent pimples. . . (H. C. E.)

Answer—It is really a shame that the public and private schools so carefully avoid instruction in the rudiments of physiology and hygiene. If you had received instruction which every fifth grade pupil should receive you would know that soap is soap and it is sufficiently antiseptic without any mysterious additions or highly colored and extremely expensive "literature." The schools dodge all this for the very good reason that the aggressive proprietary interests, through political activity, while the plain people sit back and wonder what it's all about.

A Hot One, by George

Referring to some remarks in your column, in which it is implied that 66 degrees is a desirable temperature for living quarters. For the Eskimo with a specialized internal heating plant for efficient combustion of oil and fat, a house temperature of 32 or 30 is probably satisfactory. A few civilized persons inclined to be overweight find a low temperature beneficial because the generation of heat cuts down the production of fat. But for the majority of us the optimum temperature for living quarters is 76 degrees for the maximum health of the respiratory organs. This is no mere personal opinion but a statement on the basis of statistics covering millions of population. (G. R.)

Answer—Wow, 76 is boiling, almost. How do you get that way? The comfort zone is a household temperature of 70 degrees F. with a minimum 30 per cent humidity, minimum 55 to 60 degrees temperature with maximum 55 per cent humidity. Perhaps your trouble, from my point of view, is that your household atmosphere is excessively dried out. A temperature as high as 76 degrees F. may feel rather chilly, or none too warm, as it is unless some special provision is made to supply water vapor to the air. A temperature of 68 degrees F. with 40 per cent humidity feels more comfortable than a higher temperature with a lower humidity. As a rule it is necessary to evaporate from 20 to 30 gallons of water daily in a

WHY TEACHERS LEAVE SCHOOL

I didn't hear the bell.

I don't know.

I forget.

May I get my book?

Did I pass?

May I open the window?

Have you corrected our tests yet?

What grades have I got?

Why don't I get A's?

The cars were late.

I lost my assignment.

I had a headache last night.

The page was gone from my book.

I didn't have time.

I forgot my glasses.

May I go to the nurse?

I study so hard!

The line was busy.

Can't find my book.

I never curl my hair.

I didn't hear you say that.

My complexion is natural.

I don't write notes in school.

I've never lost my locker key.

I was paying attention.

P. S.—Already my nerves are on edge.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

I wonder, What

Why is it so hard for me to get a job? No matter where I go I'm always refused? I am competent and have a good reputation. It seems to me that those loud girls have all the luck.

Member of Your Column.

Answer—There must be something in your manner—I can't figure out what it is. You have a good education and write well but there is something in your personality when applying for a job that goes against you. Return this clipping in an S. A. S. E. and receive my "Development of Personality."

What Girls Can Do

What can a young, unpopular girl do to make her town a little livelier and to make her life more interesting? Here are the conditions: Three Protestant churches and ministers not friendly with young people; high school teachers half asleep or taken up with the cares of married life; no amusements are ball games; no clubs or Girl Scout movements or anything like that. Boys have plenty to do but the girls have not.

Answer—In the same mail comes this:

"Do you often have girls write you saying they are terribly lonely and have difficulty meeting suitable companions? I am getting a number of them together to form a club in which they may find entertaining diversions. We plan to have hiking parties, swims, tennis, excursions, theatre and club parties, etc. An important feature will be group study on subjects of mutual interest and benefit, as an aid to intellectual self-improvement."

"Our purpose is to make OURSELVES and LIFE more interesting."

A hint to the wise is sufficient. Stop, Look, Listen

I have an eighth grade education and want to go to an electrical school in Chicago.

Is (naming it) a good one?

Boy of Eighteen.

Answer—One of my dogs dropped the bone he had and sprang at it.

Five-room flat or dwelling to maintain a fair degree of humidity when the air is artificially heated. If the temperature is allowed to soar above 68 degrees F. much more water must be evaporated to maintain anything approaching fair humidity.

THE MARRIAGE GAME

As Played to a Decision Every Day By Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hutton

ON THE FARM

MANAGING

HIS PLAY: Gosh, I HATE clever or women. I despise women who boast they MANAGE their husbands. They never do manage ever. Show me a wife who really clever they'd know. I'll show you a stupid woman who has a clever husband. Men hate to be managed. It is one of the privileges of a husband to do all his own personal managing and if he is undisturbed he'll make a pretty good job of it.

HER COUNTER PLAY: Forgive me, precious, while I indulge in a becomingly modest feminine giggle. Show me a husband who imagines he is doing his own managing and I will show you a man who is mighty lucky to have a wife who is thrifty, ingenious, compatible, patient and affectionate. A modern husband can manage all right so long as he isn't burdened with anything to manage more serious than the brand of cigars he prefers or what automobile he believes to be the best. Even when a wife's influence is sometimes brought to bear.

THE REFERENCE: Yes, she wins. (Copyright John F. Dille Co.)

THE STORY THUS FAR

Fred Blake impersonates Fred Monroe, long-lost son of a Sierra family, after this "son" has caused Mrs. Blake's death. "Monroe" is killed shortly after Fred is kidnapped by the police. He meets the Sierra Boy Scout troop, in which Buddy Monroe is a Scout. At the ranch, Fred keeps the Burlingame from setting off stock to Mrs. Monroe and June, her beautiful daughter. His conscience begins to trouble him.

CHAPTER IX—Continued

Fred looked up, his face hardening. What sort of coward was he to be drooling like a weak-kneed baby when his whole being cried out for manliness, decision? "Buddy," he said grimly, "I'm going to tell you something. I—"

"Fred."

Fred whirled around, utterly taken by surprise. June stood quietly, with traces of tears around her eyes, in the doorway. The sight of that sweet, tear-stained face unmannered him. All his courage fled. He grew white.

"Haven't you something to tell me, Fred?" June was subdued, restrained, tense.

"Why, June, I—I— Buddy quietly slipped out of the room. Suddenly June's face softened, grew tender. A feeling flash of her eyes, and she turned her head.

"Whatever happens—Fred—I believe in you," she said in a low voice, and fled from the room, leaving Fred, tall, miserable, helpless, feeling despicable, sitting with loose, limp hands on the sofa in the living-room.

CHAPTER X

FRED ACTS

It was a cloudless, typical California night. The sky was studded with myriad twinkling stars, all most near, friendly and satisfying. A soft breeze whispered through the pines on the flanks of the mountains and descended in gusty troops on the Monroe ranch, lifting the dust a trifle, rustling and crowding over the eaves of the bunk-house, where the tired cowboys lay sleeping like dead men.

In his room above the porch of the ranch-house Fred Blake sat, fully dressed, at an open window, watching the stars. Friendly but not to him. Now they seemed instruments of mockery, revealing to him how happy was the world, and what an outsider he was in the world of happiness. Never had the load of misery weighed so heavily upon his heart; never had he felt the burden of past wrongs as he did now. It was like a cross. A cross which for some inscrutable reason God had laid upon his shoulders, to bear with staggering heart through a weary life-time.

The moon poured into his room, illuminating his white bed in bold relief, outlining the polished surface of the wash-bowl, drenching the snowy bed-linen with silver and gold. It touched his magic fingers to the rugged, stern features of the man in which she had seen a proud, proud boy! And then had a flood of grief and shock and weakness.

No, no violence, but Fred Monroe had been her murderer just the same.

Fred Blake took his head in his hands. So he was not to escape that mother's death after all! How could it be? How stern and resolute had he been that next day when he stood over the effulgent body of the mysteriously shot murderer! How he had vowed eternal enmity on the murder scene, and then—

And here he was—weakling.

For hours, in the deepening darkness of the mountain night, Fred had sat, full of the thought of his mother's death, and he had been with his spirit and his conscience, as a man's mind, exhausting battle. At one moment his sweet features had been lit with a glow of hope, and then he had seen the next moment the vision of June and her mother and Buddy obliterated his very vision, and the rain had washed away all signs of footprints on a dusty trail.

And then, with the first faint glimmers of dawn peeping through the black rifts of the night, with the first suspicion of dawn on the head of Mt. Whitney, snow and hail before him, Fred Blake went to the bureau, extracted a sheet of paper, a bottle of ink and a pen, and proceeded to write a long, long letter.

There was a boy, Fred thought with heart pain of the thoughtfulness, the courage, the manliness of this little chap who stood as high as a man's ribs and yet had the heart of a great race of pioneers heading high in his little chest.

Could Buddy practice such deception? No. He was a scout. A Boy Scout. Who was taught above all things to be honest, truthful, a good citizen, a fearless fighter, brave and useful lad. That troop of little boys, swooping along on their small horses, grim, determined, disciplined, happy. Oh, to be a boy again!

Buddy had once called him a regular scout. If he had only known! How he would despise him, play him! A regular scout—oh, God, if a man were only two men, and if one man's strength were only the strength and will of two men!

Men Who Made the World

SO SERIOUSLY DID THIS QUARREL THREATEN THE CHURCH THAT RICHARD FINALLY SETTLED IT, AT LEAST ON THE SURFACE, BY MAKING GUY KING OF CYPRUS, AND CONRAD KING OF JERUSALEM. RICHARD WAS SWAYED TO THIS PARTLY BY THE FACT THAT CONRAD WAS A FAR BETTER SOLDIER THAN GUY AND A MORE CAPABLE PERSON TO LEAVE IN COMMAND OF THE ARMY IN CASE RICHARD HAD TO RETURN TO ENGLAND. BUT UNDERLYING THIS, RICHARD HAD OTHER HIDDEN MOTIVES, AS WE SHALL SEE.

KING RICHARD I.

CONRAD WAS ALREADY KING OF TYRE, SO THE CRUSADERS DECIDED TO CROWN HIM KING OF JERUSALEM AT TYRE. EVERYTHING WAS IN PREPARATION FOR A MAGNIFICENT CEREMONY. THE SOLDIERS WERE ALL ENJOYING A RIOTOUS TIME. THEN, AS CONRAD WAS PASSING ALONG THE STREETS OF THE CITY ONE DAY, TWO MEN RUSHED UPON HIM, DRAWING SMALL DAGGERS, AND ASSASSINATED HIM ON THE SPOT.

By Dr. Elliot Shoring, The Noted Historian

THE TWO SLAYERS BELONGED TO A TRIBE OF ARABS CALLED THE HASSASSINS. THE NAME CAME FROM THE ARAB WORD FOR DARTER, THE ONLY WEAPON THE TRIBE EVER CARRIED. THE HASSASSINS WERE A POPULAR TRIBE LIVING IN MOUNTAIN FASTNESSES AND WERE REALLY A RING OF ROGUES AND MURDERERS. THEY WERE VERY CURIOUS AND TRICKY, TRAINED TO ADAPT ANY DISGUISE AND GO AMONG THE PEOPLE OF ANY RACE WITHOUT SUSPICION.

THESE ASSASSINS WERE TRAINED TO OBEY THEIR ORDERS UNERRINGLY. WHEN ATTACKED, THEY WOULD FLEE TO THEIR MOUNTAIN FASTNESSES. AFTERWARDS, THEY WOULD COME FORWARD, SUITABLY DISGUISED, TO KILL THE OFFENDER. IT WAS A POINT OF HONOR IN THEIR TRIBE TO FEAR NOTHING, AND THEY NEVER SHANK FROM WHAT THEY REGARDED AS THEIR DUTY.

JACK HOLT IN MAN OF FOREST IS AT RICHMOND

Lovers of fine horseflesh will receive a thrill when they see Jack Holt's Betisia, who makes her film debut in "Man of the Forest," the Paramount Zane Grey picture coming to the Richmond theatre starting today, with Holt in the title role and Georgia Hale and El Brendel co-featured. The new mount, of thoroughbred and Arabian breeding, is owned by Holt, who is as daring and accomplished off as well as on the screen.

Jack used Betisia instead of Chief, the favorite with which he is generally seen, because of her unique coloring, a light buff, which offers a sharp contrast to the dark background of trees among which the picture was made.

Betisia has been trained to do all the cow-pony tricks, such as a sliding stop, backing to keep a lariat taut, and many others. Holt does it with kindness. He uses a special spur, that might be called a "spursless" spur, and never lays a whip on any of his mounts.

"Man of the Forest" is packed with thrilling horseflesh. Some of the most daring riders and finest horses available in the far west were used in the production. Other film features include "Crazy Like a Fox," a comedy screen, and "Felix in Reversed English," a Felix the Cat cartoon comedy.

'MISS NOBODY' WITH ANNA Q. AT CALIFORNIA

Reminiscent of her immensely successful role in "Ponjola," in which she takes the part of an English gentleman, is Miss Nilsson's role in "Miss Nobody," which comes today and tomorrow to the California theatre here.

In "Miss Nobody," however, the beautiful First National star is seen in the role of a hobo. Others featured in the cast are Walter Pidgeon, Mitchell Lewis, Arthur Stone and Clyde Cook. The picture is an adaptation of the celebrated novel "Shelbo" by Tiffany Wells.

Lambert Hillier directed. "Miss Nobody" details the astonishing exploits of an heiress and young society favorite who learns of her father's death and bankruptcy amid a revel on board an ocean liner as she returned from a gay season in Europe. She hides her sudden penury from her friends, seeks work, holding positions with poor success as her rent becomes ever more overdue, and finally, with her last presentable evening gown, attends a New Year's Eve party to which the friends she has avoided have bidden her.

The heroine escapes from the insults of a host who has become aware of her poverty, garbs herself in male attire in the servants' quarters and comes to join a band of hoboes.

All the featured male members of the cast appear as tramps. Without exception they grew beards for their roles, it being the fashion these days for screen actors to raise their own beards instead of borrowing them.

Other features include "The Jellyfish," a Mermaid comedy; a Ko-Ko cartoon; "International News" and Larry Canelo at the organ.

Women Are Urged To Give U. S. The Air

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 24.—Supported by the women of the nation for an adequate national defense, particularly in air power, was urged by P. Trubee Davidson, assistant secretary of war for aviation, speaking before the "school for politics of Republican women" tonight. He said:

"The army air corps is the youngest branch of our country's defense forces and I earnestly ask that women, interested in adequate preparedness, give the army air corps the support and encouragement it needs."

"We are told, ever so often, that this country lags behind other nations in air development, but 500 new planes in one year represents quite a volume of air power and is an adequate answer to those who stubbornly maintain that Uncle Sam's air equipment is neglected and antiquated."

ROY HAYNES IS APPOINTED AS NEW DRY HEAD

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 24.—The Anti-Saloon League leaped once more into the saddle of federal prohibition enforcement today, with the appointment of Major Roy A. Haynes, its close associate and a former government dry chief, as "acting commissioner" on prohibition.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon announced the elevation of Haynes after one of the most determined fights waged for a federal post in recent years had forced intervention from the White House, scrambled slates for the new bureau of customs and prohibition and upset the program Assistant Secretary Andrews has been developing for two years.

Selection of Haynes was a sweeping victory for Wayne B. Wheeler and the League, whose forces he directs as general counsel.

The result was regarded as a strong bid by Coolidge for support of the League and other dry organizations if he decides to run again for the presidency.

Mellon shouldered responsibility for the selection, under a bombardment of protests from callers opposed to League "domination." He turned aside questions dealing with the political considerations, allowed to be understood that he had favored Andrews' choice of Administrator J. D. Pennington, of Pittsburgh, and emphasized only that Haynes' appointment was "acting" and not necessarily final.

Andrews took the blow standing up. Never strongly supported by the League and always out of accord with Haynes, he denied that he had "any thought of resigning."

This failed to down reports that he will continue as chief of the dry forces for only a short time. The new enforcement set up under the reorganization act revolutionizes the placement of authority. Although the laying down of policies remains in Andrews' hands, according to the treasury, he will be dependent upon Haynes to carry them out.

Asked if he expected to retain a "free hand" in enforcement, Andrews rejoined that "nobody has freedom of action in anything." Director of Prohibition James E. Jones, and Col. L. G. Nutt, chief of the present narcotic division, were named temporary deputy commissioners under Haynes. Nutt will handle only narcotics.

SHORT SKIRTS? THE "AYES" HAVE IT

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, March 24.—"Short Skirts!" This demand resounded on the University of California campus as early as 1900, when co-eds of the university presented the first Frytanean fete, which has since been given annually. Long and trailing garments of the day were ruled out in favor of short skirts and knee boots.

Today co-eds, finding it impossible to attract masculine attention merely with short skirts, are returning to the long skirts and trains in this year's Frytanean fete which will be given Saturday night. The theme of the festival is "open sesame" and the thousand and one nights.

(By Universal Service)

STOCKTON, March 24.—H. H. Lage will see his brother's murderer hanged.

The Stockton may say he has never seen a man executed, but he wants to be present when William C. Shannon goes to the gallows.

"I want to know of my own knowledge that my brother's death is avenged as far as is humanly possible," he said today.

Shannon was convicted last night by a jury at Jackson, which made no recommendation. This means that Shannon will receive the death sentence next Monday when he faces Superior Judge C. P. Vivini of Amador county. He was tried on a charge of murdering Harold W. Lage, Stockton automobile salesman.

FIVE CHINESE ARE KILLED IN BIG TONG WAR

(By Universal Service)
CHICAGO, March 24.—Authorities tonight are searching for Tork, the "hatchet man," believed to have been the slayer of Chin Park, a member of the On Leong tong, Tork is a member of the Hip Sing tong. The slaying followed adjournment of the 1925 tong truce.

Frank Moy, mayor of Chinatown, and head of the On Leongs here, conferred with the authorities today and requested aid in keeping peace in the Chinese quarter.

There was little or no activity in the quarter throughout the day, and it was known that several influential Orientals were in hiding. Few whites visited the district.

Explains Cause

CHICAGO, March 24.—The cause of the present Chinese tong war, in which five Orientals already have been killed, was explained today by Frank Moy, mayor of Chicago Chinatown, and two Chinatown detectives. They said: "The On Leongs are the wealthy organization. Allied with them is a Pacific coast commercial tong, the Hop Sing. The Hip Sing and their West coast allies, the Bow tongs, are made up largely of small merchants, laundrymen and waiters, at whose head are a group of men little removed from blackmailers.

"Although the On Leongs are numerically stronger, because of their holdings and business interests, they will not go the lengths the Hip Sing will. Hence they have often been forced to purchase peace.

"Such was the case two years ago after the war in which 72 men were killed. The tong leaders met in New York and a truce was effected. The On Leongs are said to have paid in gold between $250,000 and $500,000.

"Now that the Hip Sing have spent the money, they adjourned the truce at midnight last night and the guns started to blaze."

Telephone Line Links East With Northwest

By JOHN B. O'BRIEN

THREE transcontinental telephone lines now span the American continent. The first of these was opened for service on January 25, 1915. The completion of that line was regarded as an epochal event in the history of telephony. Gradually the range of transmission had increased, following the first Long Distance telephone conversation record which occurred on October 9, 1876, between Boston and Cambridge, a distance of two miles. By 1880 the range of conversation had extended a distance of forty-five miles from Boston to Providence, and in 1884 New York and Boston were connected by telephone. Then the march westward began. Buffalo was reached in 1889, Chicago in 1892, Omaha in the early years of the present century, Denver in 1911, and Salt Lake City in 1913. Finally, by 1915 telephone engineers had perfected their art to such an extent that the Atlantic Coast talked with the Pacific for the first time.

At the time this first transcontinental telephone line was placed in service it was expected that it would prove adequate for many years to come, but telephone service across the continent developed to such an extent that within the next seven years another line was projected and started in the South terminating at Los Angeles, and now, at the beginning of 1927, a third or northern line has just been completed, connecting Chicago and Seattle.

The original transcontinental line runs due west from Chicago through Omaha, Denver and Salt Lake City to San Francisco, and it is an interesting fact that the transcontinental air mail practically follows this pioneer telephone line, not only from Chicago to San Francisco, but between New York and Chicago, the route being by way of Reading, Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, and then through Ohio and Indiana. The southern transcontinental line runs from New Orleans to El Paso, connecting at New Orleans with Long Lines circuits and points on the Atlantic Coast, and at El Paso to Los Angeles and points on the Pacific. The new northern route after Chicago is reached runs west and northwest to Minneapolis, Fargo, Bismarck, Glendive, Billings, Helena, Missoula, Spokane, Wenatchee and Seattle.

The northern transcontinental telephone line, formally opened in January, provides high grade facilities for the growing telephone business between points in the northwestern part of the United States and cities in the central and eastern part of the country. About one-third of the entire line between Chicago and Seattle lies within the state of Montana, where, after following the Yellowstone River for a distance of 350 miles, it passes over the Bozeman Mountains at Bozeman Pass, with an elevation of 5,572 feet, while over the Transcontinental Divide at McDonald Pass it reaches an elevation of 6,359 feet. From there it runs down the west side of the main range of the Rocky Mountains to Elliston, where it encounters and follows pretty generally the tributaries of the mighty Columbia River. The path follows on through the Garrys and Missoula, passing the famous Bitterroot Valley, down the Missoula and up the Saint Regis River, over the Bitterroot Mountains to the Idaho state line, at an altitude of 4,738 feet; thence it proceeds to Spokane and on to Seattle.

At various points along the route the new line connects with toll lines running north and south, while at Helena connection is made not only with Idaho and Utah, but with the new line recently installed to Calgary, Alberta. The tying together of these transcontinental lines by north and south connecting routes at certain points makes a sort of gridiron of a network it will be difficult to isolate any one section of the country telephonically, for, in the event that a storm makes it necessary to divert traffic, it can simply be rerouted around such storm area as might occur at any point in the network.

It has been necessary to build the line so that in so far as possible it will withstand deep snow and temperatures of fifty degrees below zero at some points, and temperatures of more than one hundred degrees above zero at other points. At certain places along the line there is also the hazard of forest fires, so that it has been necessary to take adequate measures to prevent interruptions of service from that cause.

In general, aerial wire weighing 435 lbs. to the mile has been used throughout. The pole lines are of standard type construction, consisting principally of cross-arms of pine or eastern cedar timber in the eastern part of the line, and western cedar timber in the section west of the North Dakota-Montana state line. The wire load on the pole line in different sections varies from one crossarm and ten wires to five crossarms and fifty wires.

Hitherto telephone conversations across the continent or from places in the east or middle west to points in the northwest have been routed via San Francisco, where the first or central transcontinental line terminates. Now, they will go direct via the northern route. The new circuits provided include the following: Chicago-Seattle, Chicago-Fargo, Minneapolis-Helena, Fargo-Billings, Billings-Helena, Helena-Spokane and Helena-Seattle. Repeater stations with the necessary telephone, telegraph and power equipment have been established at Tomah in Wisconsin, Minneapolis in Minnesota, Fargo and Bismarck in North Dakota, Glendive, Billings, Helena and Missoula in Montana, and Spokane and Wenatchee in Washington.

In the building of this new line all modern machinery available has been utilized, as, for example, pole hole diggers, heavy trucks with derricks, pole trailers, cable reel trailers, etc., a number of which have come into use since the first transcontinental line was laid out and constructed and which have enabled the engineers to carry on their work with much greater facility and speed than otherwise would have been possible.

From Bismarck to the coast the northern transcontinental line follows very closely the route of the Lewis and Clark Expedition of 122 years ago; not only that, but it has required about the same length of time to complete the work of building the line as it took Lewis and Clark to cover the territory in the year 1804-05. Through the country where these hardy pioneers made their difficult way on their historic expedition, the result of which led eventually to the development of all the country between the Great Bend of the Missouri and the Pacific, now runs this new transcontinental telephone line, an important link in the commercial backbone of the world's greatest civilized nation.

The building of this line, made necessary by the demands of a rapidly growing and prosperous territory, is a monument to the worth of the service rendered by Meriwether Lewis and William Clark.

Pigeons Will Carry News Of Bridge Fete To Mayors Of Pacific Coast Cities

CROCKETT, March 24.—The most modern inventions of human genius will compete with one of the oldest methods of communication in speeding the message that President Coolidge has officially opened Carquinez bridge, when that spectacular event takes place on May 21.

While the telegraph, telephone and radio are flashing the word that the last water barrier to the all-land Pacific highway from Canada to Mexico has been crashed in flinging this mile-long span across northern San Francisco bay, prize homing pigeons will dart from a specially-built loft atop the towering, central piers of the mighty bridge and swiftly fly to their home lofts located in 19 western cities.

This unique thrill for the thousands of spectators expected at the official opening ceremonies has been carefully planned by the Carquinez bridge celebration committee. At the same instant that President Coolidge presses a golden telegraph key in Washington, exploding four giant bombs near the bridge to announce its opening, the homing pigeons will be released mechanically and set out for their distant lofts at mile-a-minute speed.

These prize birds maintain an average speed of 60 miles an hour and remain in flight for 15 hours on long journeys. When overtaken by darkness they swoop to earth for the night, and are up and away at dawn to continue their tireless travel.

Each carrier pigeon will wear a metal leg-band containing a message addressed to the president of the chamber of commerce of his home city from Governor C. C. Young, who will deliver the dedication address.

The lofts from which pigeons will be assembled for this thrilling feature of the celebration program are located in the following cities: Vancouver, Olympia, Salem, Portland, Seattle, Sacramento, Oakland, San Francisco, San Jose, Santa Cruz, Santa Barbara, Paso Robles, San Luis Obispo, Fresno, Santa Maria, Stockton, Los Angeles, San Diego and Mexico.

New British Safety Devices Are In Use In Air Service

(By Universal Service)
LONDON, March 24.—Constant recurrence of fatal accidents in the Royal Air Force, whereby not only many lives have been lost in the last 18 months, but heavy financial losses have been sustained by the British government in loss of planes, has led to rather extensive dissection on the part of the taxpayers.

Deaths due to aircraft crashes in the Royal Air Force last year numbered nearly a hundred, and the list of fatalities thus far this year numbers more than ten. A strong stand for action in the adoption of safety measures was taken recently by N. J. Hulbert, secretary of the Institution of Aeronautical Engineers, as a result of these disastrous accidents which have marred the record of his Majesty's air force. Mr. Hulbert, in a statement to the Westminster Gazette, declared:

"It is well known to everyone engaged in aviation that between 30 and 90 per cent of the accidents under this heading (the Secretary of State for Air had declared before the last Parliamentary session that the majority of air accidents are caused by an error of judgment by the pilot) are really caused by the pilot accidentally 'stalling' his machine, that is, letting its speed drop below the minimum at which it will maintain flight.

"There is in existence an apparatus which can be fitted to any existing type of air craft, and which, it is claimed, will eliminate accidents under this heading. The cost of supplying and fitting it is negligible when compared with the total value of the machine.

"The claims for this apparatus have been favorably reported on by experts in aeronautics, so it would be interesting to know what is preventing the Air Ministry from fitting out one or two squadrons with this apparatus so giving it a thorough test under service conditions.

Expensive For Government. "It is a matter of considerable importance when it is realized that each fatal accident probably costs the Exchequer between $100,000 and $150,000 as well as the loss of valuable lives."

Hulbert's claims for the safety device were denied, however, by an official of the Air Ministry who admitted that the majority of accidents were due to "stalling."

He added: "We realize the prior importance of the perfection of an anti-stalling gear, but so far as I am aware none has yet been perfected. Constant research is being carried out by the Ministry's experts, but no device has yet got beyond the experimental stage."

Submarine Plans Stolen By British Naval Lieutenant
(By Universal Service)
LONDON, March 24.—The interception of letters was alleged to have revealed the illegal possession of submarine plans when Lieutenant-Commander Colin Mayne, who recently retired from the navy, was charged today under the official secrets act.

WEST PROTESTS CLOSING OF 14 LAND OFFICES

(By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 24.—A storm of protest against the closing of fourteen federal land offices came to President Coolidge today from the western states.

The strongest protests were received in telegrams from Oregon, Colorado, Utah and California. Closing of the offices at Vale, Portland and Lake View, Oregon, and Visalia, California, caused the strongest complaints. The Visalia office has the largest income of any of the 39 offices in the country it was said.

Following the complaints, President Coolidge conferred at the White House with Commissioner Spry of the General Land Office. The closings were decided by Secretary of the Interior Work in the interest of economy, Spry said. A saving of about $90,000 a year will be effected, Spry said.

President Coolidge may decide to keep some of the 14 offices open because of the complaint that their closing would make it expensive and inconvenient for people without funds to prove their land claims.

NEW SPEED RECORD

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 24.—A new American auto record of 166.51 miles an hour was set today by Major D. Segrave, British driver, under unfavorable course conditions. The ocean beach speedway here was the course used.

SPORTS

CONTRA COSTA GOLFERS BEAT VALLEJO CLUB

In a team match held at the Pacheco course between the home team, representing the Contra Costa Golf club, and the team from the Vallejo Golf and Country club, the former triumphed by a large margin, 32 to 10. This was the first upset of the season, as the locals were not conceded to have much of a show of victory against the strong team from the naval town.

The conditions were ideal for the contest and a large crowd was attracted to the course, two miles from Concord.

In the feature match between the No. 1 teams, J. Knapp and P. Hugo won all three points from Drs. Owen and Daus of Vallejo. The Contra Costa club champion, George Eberhardt, teamed with Jack Gribbin likewise had a merry time defeating S. Eckert and R. D. Pennycook of Vallejo, the latter being winner of the recent Press club championship held at the Presidio Golf club in San Francisco.

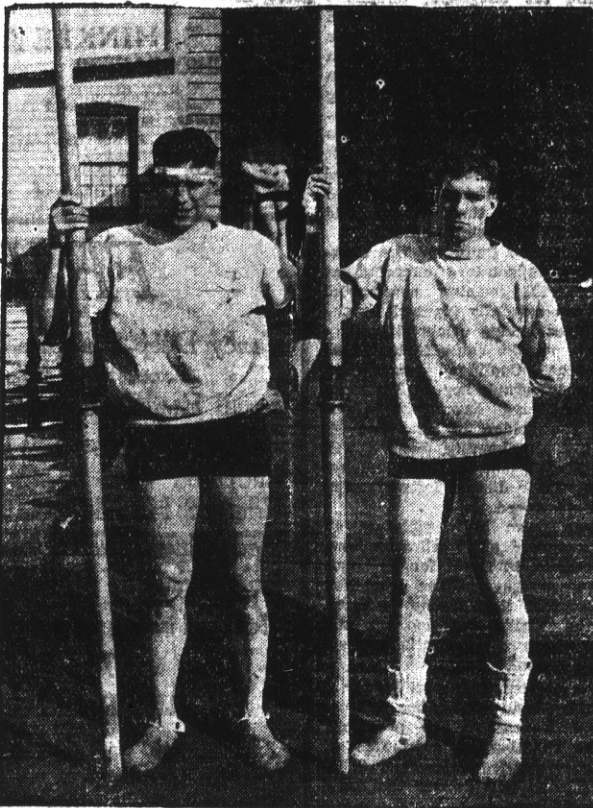

The first East vs. West tournament of the Contra Costa club will be held next Sunday to settle the supremacy of the links. The East team, representing members from Martinez, Pittsburg, Antioch, Concord, Walnut Creek and all way points will struggle against the team picked from the West, which means members living in Berkeley, Oakland, Crockett, Richmond, Piedmont and all intermediate points.

Twenty foursomes are expected to be engaged in the fierce but friendly combat and later in the day forget the heart-breaks of the 18-hole event during a jovial luncheon party at the clubhouse.

Jack Delaney And McTigue Fight in July

(By Universal Service)
NEW YORK, March 24.—Jack Delaney and Mike McTigue are going to battle for the light heavy weight championship in the Yankee Stadium next July. Peek Riley, manager of Delaney signed with Tex Rickard for the match today and at the same time signed to meet Paulino Uzcudun on the 6th of June.

Legionnaires Initiate Twenty New Members

Twenty new members were inducted into the American Legion last night, and more than 82 members were present at the initiation and banquet held in Memorial hall, C. C. St. John, adjutant, was in the chair, assisted by Commander Brady. Contrary to expectations the cooking of W. C. Dohler, S. S. Ripley and T. A. Brady, captains of the three losing teams in the recent membership drive, was greatly relished by the Legionnaires. George Herrick, a G. A. R. veteran, was made an honorary member. Preparations are being made by the Legion for a Memorial Day celebration, it was announced.

20 Year Old Boy Defeats Tilden In Tennis Match

(By Universal Service)
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 24.—George Lott, twenty-year-old University of Chicago student, contributed the first major upset of the young tennis season today, when he defeated W. T. Tilden, first ranking player of the United States, here in four sets.

The match, the final of the local singles tournament, went to the youthful Chicagoan, 6-3, 6-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Tilden also began the tennis season officially when he treated the crowd to a display of his famous temperament.

The former champion, apparently sensing defeat, and growing irritated over it, sharply rebuked his young opponent for juggling the balls before serving.

Lott later asked that one of the idle balls, which had rolled into court, be removed. Tilden objected strenuously. Lott protested indignantly to the referee, who conceded, and had the ball taken away.

Later, Lott faulted his first service ball, and when it rolled into court he raised his voice and declared over Tilden's sharp protest, "I want that one out of the way too. I have just as much right as you."

The crowd entirely in sympathy with Lott, cheered his stand.

THREE HOMERS BY KERR
LOS ANGELES, March 24.—Johy Kerr of the Hollywood baseball club, poked three homers in successive innings in an exhibition game here with the Denver club of the western league, who has a game left leg which probably proved him into hitting the hot ones. Kerr's feat may prove a record breaker.

MYSTERY CAR SPEEDS 166 MILES HOUR

(By Universal Service)

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., March 24.—After bettering the American oneway straightaway automobile record ten miles an hour in his "mystery" car over the Daytona Beach track today, Major H. O. D. Segrave, English driver, announced a ten-day rest before another test. The "mystery" car was locked in high gear after today's tests, and it was announced that it will probably require three days to take the transmission apart.

Major Segrave's 166.51 mile record was not declared official because of interference on the test mile trap. The official American straightaway record is 156.04 miles an hour.

The major prophecies better results at his next tests, because the odds are expected to be more favorable then Members of Segrave's party advised against the trial this morning, but the major went through with his plans despite "the unfavorable" conditions pointed out by his friends, and the traffic on the beach.

The British driver brought his huge whale shaped racing monster up to the mark for the first start at 7:35 a. m. and it was over at 7:35. Two runs were made but the records on both were declared unofficial because on both occasions the traps on the middle mile link of the 9-mile course were sprung by pedestrians or automobiles which strayed on the course, despite careful police surveillance.

Although the tests were held only this morning a crowd of 8,000 curious observers was on hand.

The major gathered speed for the first 4 miles, let out his motor on the 5th mile, stopping over the final four.

Christians Are Drifters Says Divine

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 24.—"Christians drift aimlessly with the current, instead of rowing in the right direction for religion."

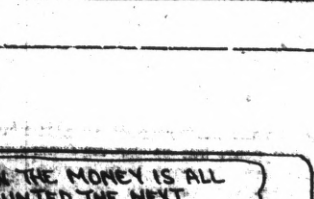

So stated Dr. J. A. Schaaf, in a Lenten address today under auspices of the church club.

"The drift in the current is always downward. He who would rise in the stream must row. The principles or program of effective rowing must be learned and followed before one can make progress."

"Christ and the Christian religion have a program which must be followed if we are to be true Christians. It is a program of discipleship, of repentance, of being born again of water and spirit."

ANDERSON, Ind., March 24.—Dewey Walker threw up his job today as prohibition agent after adding it three years because he was afraid of going blind from tasting too much doubtful liquor.

Horsewhipping Makes Fencer Very Sore

LOS ANGELES, March 24.—J. Stuart Blackton, motion picture producer who is being sued for $25,000 for the alleged horsewhipping of Gerard de Merveaux, Hollywood fencing instructor, described from the witness stand in superior court here today, the events that led to the chastisement.

"I was in my room, preparing to leave when Mrs. Blackton, my wife, rushed upstairs, hysterical and with bloody scratches and bruises on her face," he said.

"De Merveaux did it!" she screamed.

"I seized a small child's whip and ran downstairs to punish the man who had assaulted my wife."

The whip was produced as evidence. Blackton added that the thrashing of the fencing master was a mild one.

Three other character witnesses testified at today's session that the Frenchman bore a bad reputation. They were Capt. Frank Coffey, former U. S. aviator, Otto Mattison and Rene Faracen.

Whiskey Ring Fits Loop On One Gambler

(By Universal Service)

CHICAGO, March 24.—While relatives insist that Clarence Lazarus, millionaire gambler, is missing as result of amnesia, authorities redoubled efforts to find him today, following reports that he has been kidnapped and held for ransom.

Sums said to have been demanded range from $25,000 to $100,000.

Last Monday night he was driven to within a block of his home by his brother John. That was the last seen of him.

Recently, according to investigators, Lazarus returned from Cincinnati, headquarters of one of the biggest whiskey rings in the country.

A belief that he has become involved in bootlegger's intrigues was looked into thoroughly. Still another belief, advanced by officials, is that Lazarus, becoming despondent over his ill health, has committed suicide.

SHARKEY BRIDGE BILL DEFEATED IN UPPER HOUSE

(By Universal Service)

SACRAMENTO, March 24.—By a vote of 19 yeas, 12 nays, the Senate today defeated a bill which would extend the life of the American Toll company's bridge over Carquinez Strait franchise from 25 to 50 years. The bill gave boards of supervisors permission to make the change. The San Francisco delegation voted unanimously against the measure.

Senator Herbert C. Jones, of Santa Clara county, speaking in opposition to the bill declared that the State was getting away from the proposition of grants for public functions to private concerns. He said that the private toll roads of the State had been taken over into public highways, and that gradually the State would take over toll bridges.

He, therefore, was against the bill which carried on for another 25 years the private control of the bridge.

Senator Will R. Sharkey, of Contra Costa who sponsored the bill said that since the franchise was granted in 1923 for 25 years the State law had been changed and that toll bridge franchise applications were now based upon a 50 year term of life. He cited the Dumbarton bridge and the San Francisco Bay bridge applications.

This was met by questions which showed that the Carquinez bridge financing was completed on a 25 year provision.

The matter of fixing of toll rates developed the statement by Senator Jones, that while the present law gave boards of supervisors that right, a measure has been introduced which would place the rate fixing power in the hands of the railroad commission.

Senator Sharkey gave notice that he would move for reconsideration tomorrow.

The Best Investment Is In Fong Wan Herbs

4337 Shattuck Ave., Oakland, Cal. July 30, 1926.

Top years ago I had a twinging pain in my left kidney. I was suffering around my left side. Before I came to Oakland I had treated with numerous physicians and had been in several hospitals in New York. As I got no relief whatever, I was advised to make a change of climate. I therefore came West, but here I suffered as badly as ever.

Finally a friend urged me to try the FONG WAN HERBS. One week of that treatment gave me wonderful, permanent relief. During the year that has elapsed since I have had absolutely no indications of my former complaints.

How wonderful it seems that the FONG WAN HERBS could thus help me after the doctors and hospitals had failed. I am a barber by trade. Had it not been for the FONG WAN HERBS TREATMENT, how could I have earned a living while suffering with those terrible pains?

I am very thankful to the FONG WAN HERBS SPECIALIST for what he has done for me and am giving him this testimonial as a token of my gratitude.

Dr. Bulgín Talks To O. E. S. On Bible Story Of Esther

Chips That Fall From Bulgín Axe

Outside of the Lord Jesus Christ, this wicked old world knows no God.

God has done all He can to keep you out of Hell.

If there is anything today that is breaking down the power of Americans it is immorality.

Pentecost is the repair shop for the run down man.

Esther is the only woman in the Bible who is a Type of Christ.

Show me a man who has no sympathy for his wife and I'll show you a home preparing for the divorce court.

Choosing as his subject the beautiful Biblical story of Esther, Dr. Ellwood Bulgín spoke last night to a full house at the big tent at Seventh and Nevins. Among his listeners were large delegations of members of the various lodges of O. E. S.

Dr. Bulgín pictured Esther as the only woman in the Bible who is a type of Christ. Esther, he explained in drawing out the analogy, risked her life for her people, the Jews, just as Jesus Christ laid down his life for mankind.

Esther was the mediator between the law and her people, the Jews, said Dr. Bulgín, and when she appeared before the king, an act which was punishable by death, the king, aroused by her beauty, as to her mission, offered her the scepter, instead of putting her to death.

This morning at 10 o'clock, Dr. Bulgín will lecture on Christian Science at the big tent, and has issued a special invitation to all interested in Christian Science to be present.

Tonight will be young folks' night and members of boys' and girls' organizations of Richmond will attend in bodies, some in uniform. Among his listeners tonight who will come as club units will be members of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Christian Endeavor societies and high school students.

A high school dinner which was scheduled for tonight by the seniors has been postponed to enable them to attend the Bulgín service.

every sack of barley in warehouses rats scurry away to burrow deeper in the pile. Workmen are constantly forced to shield their faces from the rats which jump onto their heads and shoulders when disturbed in their hiding places.

Hundreds of thousands of the rodents are making the grain warehouses at Port Costa their headquarters. The Strauss interests, owners of the McNear grain warehouses, have been forced to assign gangs of men to do nothing but kill rats which are found by the thousands in the piles of sacked grain.

On Wednesday 428 rats were killed and 257 of them were clubbed as stowaways were engaged in moving one pile of barley.

Not since the war, according to James Ahern, constable at Port Costa for a quarter of a century, has the rat menace been as threatening as at this time.

A campaign for extermination is to be made, and the matter will be placed before the board of trustees in Martinez at their next meeting. R. B. Boviand, president of the chamber of commerce, declared.

Y. M. C. A. HOLDS ORGANIZATION MEETING HERE

Reorganization plans of the Young Men's division of the Y. M. C. Officers elected, were Alpha Speer, president; George Johnston, vice-president; Clayton D'Arcy, secretary; Everett Rittmore, treasurer, and Richard Crighter, song-leader.

Ultimatum Demands The Safe Delivery Of Americans In Nanking

invaders. When the Cantonese took the city their sympathizers and numerous guerillas ran amuck with machine guns, shooting indiscriminately at all in their path.

The wildest scenes of disorder are described by the refugees, who say the attack against them were mob attacks rather than assaults by organized bands of soldiers of either side.

The mobs ran through the streets shouting, "Kill the foreign devils." There is no way at this early date to estimate how great the casualty list may be.

Evacuation Ordered

PEKIN, March 25.—The American legation here this morning ordered all the American consuls in distress controlled by the Cantonese to superintend the immediate evacuation of all Americans. Wireless messages to the American naval station here state that many Americans were killed or wounded at Nanking. The American consul, J. K. Davis, and his family were escorted to safety by marines and are aboard the U. S. Isobel.

There are 45 American women and children and 90 men left in Nanking.

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Six additional destroyers are now proceeding to Chinese waters from Manila. Admiral Williams reported to the Navy Department late tonight.

The destroyers Peary, Ford and Pillsbury, are enroute to Shanghai while three others, not identified, are proceeding to Swatow, Foochow and Amoy, the Admiral reported.

HONOLULU, March 24.—The gravity of the situation in China was indicated today when word was received here for the immediate departure of three U. S. Cruisers for Shanghai.

The U. S. S. Cincinnati steamed from Pearl Harbor at 3 p. m. followed at hour intervals. Oradere were received to proceed to Shanghai at full speed with the Richmond acting as flagships.

The squadron is expected to reach Shanghai in 11 days. Great excitement marked the last hour's before departure, automobiles rushing and gulls shouting their last good-bye.

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE (By Universal Service)
WASHINGTON, March 24.—An ultimatum bordering on war was served on Cantonese China today following receipt of news of the appalling massacre of Americans in Nanking.

Will Attack
Unless 155 Americans, if still alive, beleaguered in that city are brought out to safety by 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, the American forces will attack the Cantonese army which holds the city and is responsible for the outrages, it was stated.

These 155 Americans, who may already be dead, are only a handful of the Americans whose lives are in jeopardy. They are in interior cities in what is known as the Shanghai consular area. They are literally at the mercy of the Cantonese who have been worked up into anti-foreign fanaticism.

Hold Little Hope
Consul General Gauss, at Shanghai, today sent out a radio broadcast to all of them to make their way to Shanghai as best they can. There was said to be little hope that they could make their way through the Cantonese armies surrounding Shanghai. There are known to be upwards of 500 Americans cut off from any hope of rescue.

In the meantime, grim-visaged naval and army officers made ready to enforce their demands and invade China on a scale dwarfing the Boxer campaign. Three of the most modern cruisers in the American navy, the Marblehead, Cincinnati and Richmond, were ordered from Honolulu to Shanghai under forced draught. They steam at 35 knots an hour and should reach there within seven days.

In addition to the three cruisers, three destroyers have been ordered to Shanghai from Manila. A full division of troops in the Philippines will be moved to China if necessary. Under treaty with China the United States is required to use only naval forces, but officials today declared the treaties are now little more than scraps of paper and that any suitable action will be taken to protect American lives and property, and explanations made afterwards.

12,000 Men Available

There are upwards of 12,000 men in the division and they can be moved to Shanghai within five days, if needed. There are two transports and other shipping valuable at Manila to move them, it was stated.

The Nanking massacre literally appalled officials. They still do not know exactly what has happened except that a large number of American civilians have been killed or wounded and that 155 more are still at the mercy of a fanatical horde of Cantonese troops. They have taken refuge on a hill where for more than 12 hours they have made a heroic effort to hold back the Chinese bent upon their destruction.

Reports Situation
Admiral Clarence S. Williams, commander of the American forces in Asiatic waters, made the following graphic report of the situation by radio to the navy department:

"Foreigners on Sacony hill were attacked. British cruiser Emerald and the United States destroyers Noa and Preston shelled the area around the hill to protect the foreigners, opening fire about 3:30 p. m. Landing forces were sent to attempt the rescue of foreigners from hill. The commander of the Yangtze patrol force, Rear Admiral H. H. Hough, U. S. N., arrived in the U. S. S. Isobel at 6:30 p. m. and the following despatch has been received from him through Admiral C. S. Williams, U. S. N., commander in chief of the Asiatic fleet, who has forwarded the entire despatch to the navy department:

"At 5 p. m. the Preston and the Noa ceased heavy gun fire and the British cruiser Emerald sent a landing force to a wall under the Standard Oil house while the Emerald covered with shrapnel and the Noa and the Preston cleared the bund and far shore of snipers by firing from the ships.

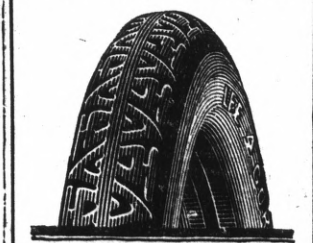

140 Refugees Rescued

"The landing forces successfully brought off all the foreigners from the Standard Oil house, including the American consul and his family and all American naval personnel. One American sailor was slightly wounded. The Noa and Preston were hit many times during the day. During the afternoon the Cantonese troops looted American, British and Japanese consulates, wounded the British consul general and are reported to have killed the Japanese consul.

"A number of American civilians have been killed or wounded. The number involved is uncertain but it is feared that it is large. The missions have been looted. The Americans left in the city comprise 45 women, 20 children, 90 men, fate uncertain.

"Negotiators brought on board the British cruiser Emerald and negotiations concluded demanding first, the immediate protection of all foreigners and foreign property; second, the reporting on the board of the Cantonese general in command before 11 p. m. tonight to negotiate respecting the outrages committed; third, all foreigners must be brought to the bund under escort by 10 a. m. tomorrow. If these demands are not complied with Nanking will be treated as a military area. Firing is still going on on both banks of the river and a large fire at Fukow.

"These outrages occurred in spite of every possible effort on the part of the American consul and others to get into touch with some responsible Cantonese officer to insure the safety of the foreigners.

"Am sending all American refugees to Shanghai tonight via S. S. Kunggw and Wenchow."

Conditions Chaotic
Conditions in Nanking were so chaotic, it was reported, that there is no idea of the number of casualties, either among Americans or Chinese.

The state and navy departments announced today that Admiral Williams has the fullest authority to act as he sees fit in the emergency.

"We are behind him 100 per cent," Secretary of the Navy Willbur declared.

For the moment, however, the situation in Shanghai is apparently quiet. The Cantonese officers are exerting every effort to restore order after the last four days' orgy of murder in the native city and there have been few efforts to invade or bombard the international city within the last 12 hours, according to reports. There is still a tense, ominous atmosphere and anything may happen, officials say.

Brigadier General Smedley Butler, who is to command the marine unit at Shanghai, is expected to arrive there tomorrow, the navy announced.

409 Americans at Nanking
At the outbreak of the rioting in Nanking there were 409 Americans in that city. It is a large missionary center and most of them were missionaries. There were 104 men, 175 women and 130 children.

The American missions there, all of which are believed to have been destroyed, are: American University, Friends' Mission, Chungking Women's College, Language School, Methodist Episcopal Mission, Nanking University (with large American faculty), North Presbyterian Mission, South Presbyterian Mission, University Hospital and Y. M. C. A.

The Standard Mill company, Texas Oil company, and Liggett and Myers Tobacco company have large branches there.

(By Universal Service)

BERKELEY, Calif., March 24.—For the first time in the history of astronomy a serious attempt has been made to study quantitatively the amount of light given out by elements at different levels of the sun's atmosphere by means of flash spectrum photographs, it was learned today.

The work has been done by Dr. E. F. Carpenter at Lick Observatory in the hope of paving a way for the learning of the temperatures, the pressures, and the arrangement of elements in the transparent gaseous atmosphere of the sun. It is easier, astronomers indicate, to study the sun's atmosphere, 93,000,000 miles away, than our own, because of the difficulty of reaching points more than five miles from the earth's surface.

Spring Time Is Here

Everyone responds to the joyousness of Spring. After nature has lain dormant all winter and bursts forth again with renewed life, it stirs within the human heart the desire to accomplish.

As the seed is planted and cultivated, it grows until the harvest shows how much the little seed has multiplied.

If you will plant your dollars in this bank and allow them to work for you, in a few years you will be surprised to find how they have multiplied.
